COMMUNITY GARDEN UPCOMING WOKSHOPS

Saving Seeds Today for Growing Tomorrow

Wednesday September 18th, 2013 7:00 pm in the Old Town Hall

Seed saving is economical and a great way to preserve heritage varieties. This workshop will discuss what types of seeds you can save, how to best preserve them and winter storage techniques.

Twilight event!
Good Night Garden, See you in Spring: Putting the garden to bed, Simple coldframes for prolonging your season &
Fall Garlic Planting for Summer Harvest

Wednesday October 16th, 2013 at 7:00 pm Community Garden Site (weather permitting)

Good Night garden, See you in the Spring: Putting the garden to bed- Come learn about what you need to do to ensure your over-wintered crops are healthy, mulching and composting.

Simple Coldframes- Learn how to extend your growing season into the cold months!

Fall Garlic Planting for Summer Months- Plant your cloves in the fall for a bountiful and flavorful Harvest next summer. Learn the difference in garlic varieties, storage and fertilizer needs.

More Information

All committee meetings are open to the public and we encourage people to come join us.Regular meetings are held in the upstairs office, on the Parks & Rec. side of the Waterboro Town Hall.

Contact us today!
We welcome your questions and queries. Please see our Contact Us page for complete contact information.